

An entertainment consulting company.

Based out of Baltimore specializing in venue programming, event production, production, talent buying, and artist management. Our specialists will work directly with your team to accomplish each clients specific requests and will coordinate the best in live entertainment, sound production, staging, lighting, and more to make each event a success.

From big to small events.

Head-On Entertainment produces small community concerts to corporate events to large festivals. We work closely with each client utilizing our experience to bring great ideas to fruition. We can offer the best in quality entertainment for your event from national headliners to local talent.

More than ENTERTAINMENT.

We have professional production teams for live sound, lighting, and staging for your event. We also manage all aspects and communicate details to talent and each tech involved keeping one point person and making your experience a very organized process.

The whole story.

Who We Are?

Head-On Entertainment, Inc. was founded in 1997 by Chris Huntington, a professional musician, songwriter, engineer, producer and consultant from New England and his wife Anne Marr-Huntington, a visual artist from Virginia.

What we've done.

Head-On Entertainment, initially a company that primarily represented artists, has developed many bands; connected talent with labels; worked thousands of successful events; and placed music in TV, film and commercials for artists to develop innovative ideas.

Since When?

Now with over 20 years of experience Head-On has grown into a full service consulting and production company successfully building numerous music venues, managing events, and programming casinos nationwide working closely with each client and talent.

Who do we book?

Head-On Entertainment books everything from national headliners to specialty entertainment, comedians, DJs and local bands. Head-On also specializes in sound and lighting reinforcement from large to small events.

Head-On Entertainment can be a “one stop shop” for clients coordinating all aspects of an event and consulting with your team to meet each venue’s specific requests while focusing on the highest quality talent available.

Head On Entertainment Services

What we do.

Entertainment Consulting

Having worked the industry for over 30 years we know the market from East Coast to West Coast. We will work with your team to determine a direction for programming that will suit your needs, appeal to your targeted audience, and help your brand grow. We pride ourselves on having progressive and innovative ideas for programming that meet modern expectations.

Event Management

Once we have determined the details and direction with your team, Head-On Entertainment will acquire the highest quality talent within your budget for your venue, festival, event, or concert series. All details will be executed by Head-On Entertainment booking team and will be hands free for the client. We will contract, schedule, insure, and over see all entertainment details per your specifications.

Venue Programming

Head-On Entertainment can also be your one stop shop for event production needs. We provide sound systems, event lighting, and staging with seasoned professionals to set and operate, and we are fully insured for any size event.

Live & Post Production

Head-On Entertainment will oversee operations from start to finish. We will communicate all event details to talent, techs, production crews and make sure all are on time and working safely and on larger events we can have a stage manager present to keep your event on schedule.
